

Single-Source Publishing with MadCap Flare

With MadCap Flare at the core of MadPak, you can leverage existing content, create standards-compliant documentation and publish to multiple formats and devices, all from a single product

Benefits

- Leverage existing content with easy import from multiple legacy applications and formats
- Enjoy greater consistency, accuracy and delivery of your documentation by managing content from a single source
- Experience tight integration with all MadCap Software products, for a completely seamless authoring experience that meets your organization's documentation and publishing needs
- Streamline and improve the accuracy and speed of the entire authoring process using patented editor technology
- One-click publishing to multiple outputs and devices
- Simplify translation workflow and reduce costs with direct Translation Memory tool integration and advanced localization friendly design

Microsoft® Health Solutions Group Uses MadCap Flare to Streamline Delivery of Online and Print Documentation

